LATE URGES TO REEPLANT FOR EX-SOLDIERS

Annual Report of Secretary of Interior Also Advocates Better Schools for Americanization of All Aliens.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—Development of arid, swamp and other lands to provide farms for returning soldiers, and improvement of the public school system to provide for Americanization of foreign-born citizens and the education of illiterate mountain white populations and negroes, are two big reconstruction problems Secretary of the Interior Lane says in his annual report made public today. Schools, he added, should lay more emphasis on teaching trades.

Of immediate importance is the proposal that the government systematically go about the work of providing work for soldiers on existing irrigation projects in the West. Later, Secretary Lane suggests, more extensive reclamation of waste land should be put under way, and small farms sold to soldiers by the government on long-term payment plan.

Mr. Lane outlined in detail his proposed methods of carrying out this program, which he characterized as part of the "looking ahead work" of the nation.

Referring to the returning soldiers, he said: "Being Americans and being young, they will not ask or expect pensions. They will want work. They will want, if possible, a chance for a home of their own."

By systematic government development of idle lands, said Mr. Lane, there will be provided immediate jobs for these men, labor markets will be protected against possible collapse by being swamped with a surplus of labor, re-established industries will be supplied with an immediate demand for their products, the movement of population to cities will be checked, many "best permanent Americans" will be affixed permanently to agriculture, and vast areas of land now neglected and valueless will be brought into use.

Irrigation Plans.
"As an immediate program," said the secretary, "we should first offer an opportunity upon our present irrigation projects for all who wish work, clearing and leveling the land not now cultivated, but for which water is available, or to which water can be brought under the present irrigation system, and that such tracts shall be developed under an appropriate land settlement plan. This we can do at once and meet whatever labor problem may be immediate."

"As a second step I would urge an appropriation for one or more of the largest irrigation schemes for which rivers are in an advanced state. Concurrently it would seem to me wise to undertake the draining of the most swampy projects—government-owned or in part owned by private owners."

Land to be bought at an appraisal made by the farm loan board and subject to the approval of the department of agriculture.

"There is an alternative method of doing this, private lands which already has the approval of congress, incorporated in the reclamation act. Under this private owner agrees to sell his land to whoever gets the later right at an appraisal price as a condition precedent to our undertaking the construction of irrigation works. Under such a plan there would be no difficulty whatever in securing control of any-sized bodies of swamps or of swamp lands that might be desired."

The government would not buy the land, but the owner would be cleared and the water for the price and take it on such terms as the government itself could exact for lands of this character. The owner would be cleared and the water for the price and take it on such terms as the government itself could exact for lands of this character.

After a soldier has returned to his home, said Mr. Lane, if his old position is not open and he is unable to find an independent life, there could be laid before him a number of projects which the government had undertaken in the different sections of the country. Let us assume no more than three, one an irrigation scheme, another a drainage project, a third the development of a body of water, and he would need to have great arms constructed to impound and divert water, a hydro-electric plant, line of canal and tunnel, perhaps, thousands of acres to be cleared and leveled, fenced and broken. This would mean years of work at good wages, and in the open under housing conditions that would seem palatial to a soldier of the trench, and at the end a piece of land on which would be erected a house and barn, a farm home for a group of farm homes. For this the government would be cleared and the water for the price and take it on such terms as the government itself could exact for lands of this character.

Mr. Lane estimated that more than a third, probably nearer one-half, of the American troops in Europe came from farms, and probably would wish to return to the agricultural work. Care would be taken, however, he said, that the government in selling farms to these men, limit the size and impose restrictions to prevent their being aggregated into great estates.

Turning to the question of cost, Secretary Lane said this would be as much as we were able to do. "We have spent largely for this war and largely we must spend for many years to come."

We are to economize in order to start the war, but the war is not over. We are to economize in order to start the war, but the war is not over. We are to economize in order to start the war, but the war is not over.
